

Who is Penten?

We do important work.

We all have different backgrounds, perspectives, and experiences but together we are creating ground-breaking cyber security products for our customers.

We only work on problems that currently have no solutions. We have created game changing technology. Creativity drives our business.

We are a growing bunch of engineers, developers, project managers and business support teams that are connected by our mission to do important work.

Lisette Geronimo
Systems Engineer

"I recently joined Penten and I feel very happy to be part of this family. I work with great people who transform technology and are always thinking how to do things better. Working with Penten is like having fun every day as you learn new things. I feel challenged and the team is very welcoming and are always there to help and guide you."

Chris Claoue-Long
Software Developer

"Over the two years I've been at Penten, each day has brought something new. We genuinely work on innovative technologies and products. I've been able to grow my skillset in a diverse range of areas, all while making a meaningful difference in the world. If you want to work in a multi-award winning, fast paced and supportive environment, this is the place to be!"
